Product Description

Introduce your children to the age-old game of Xs and Os. The ADA compliant Freestanding Tic-Tac-Toe Panel with Posts ensures that children of all abilities can play everyone's favorite childhood game. Accessible from both sides, children will have the opportunity to play their first game with friends or compete to prove their superior strategy, all by rotating the large cylinders to match their tactical choices. By incorporating the classic game into your playground, your children can get their first taste of strategy, game play, graceful winning and losing, and other crucial intellectual and social developmental skills. The durable and tactile molded plastic letters open the game up to those younger, two-plus players who may not know their letters yet, while also ensuring kids up to preteens can search for three-in-a-row all year round. Draw attention across the playground to your Freestanding Tic-Tac-Toe Panel with Posts with the primary color design or go for a more unobtrusive look in neutral colors. If neither palette works for you, choose your own colors to make your Tic-...
